REMEMBER THE TIME—

WHEN EVERY PATH WAS OPEN

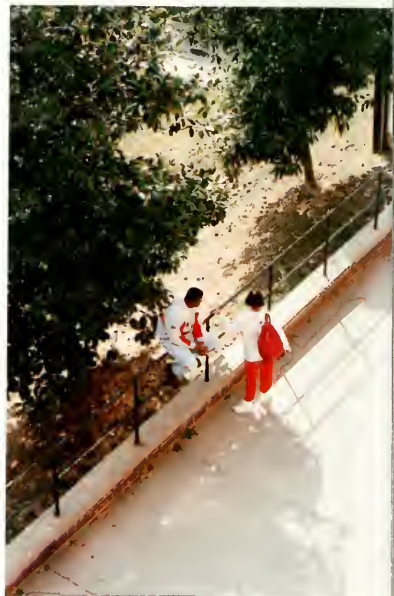

North Carolina Central University is a comprehensive university offering programs at the bachelor's and master's levels and at the first professional level in law.

The primary mission of the University is to provide its students with an educational environment that will stimulate their intellectual curiosities; enhance and develop academic and professional skills; instill a sense of pride, dignity and discipline; and promote a consciousness of social responsibility and dedication to the advancement of general welfare of the people of North Carolina, and of the world.

In 1991-92, 5385 students were enrolled at the University with over 4039 students at the undergraduate level — 922 freshmen, 1251 sophomores, 968 juniors and 522 seniors. Eighty-seven percent of the students were North Carolinians with 12% being from out-of-state and 1% being from a foreign country.

Representing over 30 states, the student body at North Carolina Central University comes from a range of environments, lifestyles and economic situations. The sons of an Iowa executive and a Lee County farmer became roommates and best friends. The daughters of a Greensboro minister and a New York City policeman became sorority sisters and each others maid-of-honor. The University's student body reflected the diversity of the African-American community, the nation, the world.

This diversity constituted a major challenge for the faculty and staff in their responsibilities to teach, guide and develop each student's potential. While academics were the University's primary focus, every aspect of University life became a learning laboratory for the continued development of intellectual and social skills. Clubs and organizations were supported, events and activities were sponsored, and every path to learning was opened to all who by their ability and motivation showed promise of success.

WHEN WE LEARNED AND MOVED FORWARD . . .

Much controversy surrounded North Carolina Central University during 1991-92. The year started with the Clarence Brown incident and concluded with whether the names of each graduating student should be called during the graduation ceremony.

With each incident, the lines of communication were opened more and more. Be it, the Raleigh News and Observer, the Durham Herald, or our own Campus Echo, with each new article and editorial communication became more open and candid. Differences were aired, the complexity of the University was exposed and we grew stronger.

In spite of the controversy concerning its faculty and administration, the university survived and flourished.

Amicable relationships were maintained. Let us never forget, when we learned and moved forward.

Dear Old NCC

The verdant green, the verdant green,
The lovely blossoms' tear-teous sheen,
Surround our college proud and gay,
Where wave our colors, Maroon and Gray.
What matters it how far we roam,
Our thoughts will oft return to home,
Our hearts will e'er be true to thee,
Our Alma Mater, NCC.
We've gathered here to fit our lives,
As from the darkness light revives,
So let us hail, both glad and true,
Our glorious colors, Maroon and Gray.
We'll ever love and honor thee,
For thou hast taught us loyalty,
Then let our watchword "Service" be,
To Alma Mater, NCC.
You send us forth with hearts of love,
So like a blessing from above,
And from the path we'll never stray,
Our dear Alma Mater, Maroon and Gray.
We'll work and fight, we'll win our way,
When duty calls, we shall obey,
And may we e'er return to thee,
Our Alma Mater, NCC.

CHORUS

Then Rah! Rah! Rah! for our colors so gay,
Dear Old NCC's Maroon and Gray,
Thy Sons and Daughters will honor thee,
Dear Old NCC.

by Annie Day Shepherd and Harry F. Burling

THE FOUNDER

James Edward Shepard was born in Raleigh, North Carolina on November 3, 1875. He was the son of Reverend August and Mrs. Harriet Whitted Shepard. He attended Shaw University and graduated with a degree in pharmacy in 1894. He later studied theology between 1894 and 1898. In 1899, he worked in Washington, D.C. as a Comparer of Deeds in Congressman Henry P. Cheatman's office. In 1890, he returned to North Carolina and was a part of the group that founded what was to become North Carolina Mutual Life Insurance Company. In the same year he became Deputy Collector of Internal Revenue for the United States government. He held that position until 1905. It was said that he was the first and only African-American to serve in that position in North Carolina during his time. Between 1905 and 1909, Dr. Shepard served as Field Superintendent of the International Sunday School Association. The following year he married Mrs. Annie Day Robinson. The marriage produced two daughters: Marjorie and Annie.

In 1910, Dr. Shepard founded the National Religious Training School and Chautauqua which would 59 years later become known as North Carolina Central University. Originally, the institution was conceived as a center for religious training. For 15 years with the support of numerous black and white friends Dr. Shepard kept his school open. Refusing to turn away any student who desired to learn, Dr. Shepard often over spent his budget. In 1923, after much lobbying, the General Assembly of North Carolina agreed to support Dr. Shepard's school. Thus, in 1925 it became the first state-supported four-year liberal arts college for African-American people in the United States and was renamed North Carolina College for Negroes.

Dr. Shepard served as president of the University until his death in 1947 at the age of seventy-two. James Edward Shepard was a registered pharmacist, educator, politician, churchman, businessman, founder of a university, ordained minister, and leader.

NEON LIGHTS ARE BRIGHT AT NCCU

"All the world's a stage and we are but mere players." To the students and faculty of NCCU's Dramatic Arts Department, there was no better description of their world. The NCCU Drama Department under the direction of Dr. Linda Norflett continued to amaze and delight university, state and national communities with their brilliant productions.

Through the magic of the theater, the audience was taken to another place and time to observe that "She Stoops to Conquer" or to share the pain of "For Colored Girls . . ." Who will forget "Of Mules and Men," "Joe Turner's Come and Gone," or "Check-mates." These plays were transformed by the talented players and their directors into theatrical triumphs.

... who have considered suicide when the rainbow is enuff!

From Joe Turner.

Thomas McDonald from "Of Mules and Men."

Lisa Murphy and Paige Barnes paint a set.

Rochelle conducts a "tech" check

As players, theatrical majors were exposed to every aspect of the theater. They prepared sets, hung lights, ushered, served as technicians, and YES, acted, sang and danced their way to national recognition. From touring a national award winning play to the founding of the Alpha Alpha Phi Chapter of the Alpha Psi Omega Honorary Drama Fraternity, Inc. they proved that the neon lights are bright at NCCU.

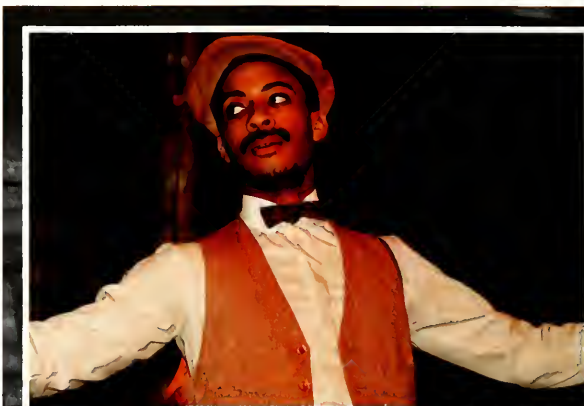

REMEMBER THE TIME!

OF MULES AND MEN

Conceding to popular demand, the Drama Arts Department again presented its adaptation of Zora Neal Hurston's classic "Of Mules and Men." Critics called the play an "artistic, entertaining, and enlightening experience that celebrated and affirmed the common origins of mankind."

The play was directed by Dr. Randolph Umberger and featured a mixed cast of drama and non-drama students. The play took the audience on a visit to the small town of Eatonville Florida during the year 1929. Where a colorful cast of characters bring to life the "lies" that black folks told while "sit-tin'" on the porch doing "nuthin'."

Recognized 1991 as one of the five outstanding college theater productions by the National American College Theater, "Of Mules and Men" played to sold-out audiences and received standing ovations throughout the state.

The players who brought the characters "Of Mules and Men" to life were:

Willie Ellison
 Gil Faison
 Joan Horton-Mathis
 Ayinde Hurrey
 Tyris Jones
 Deneen McEachern
 Lauren Truitt
 Amy Waddell
 Jacqui Watson

MUSEUM OF ART

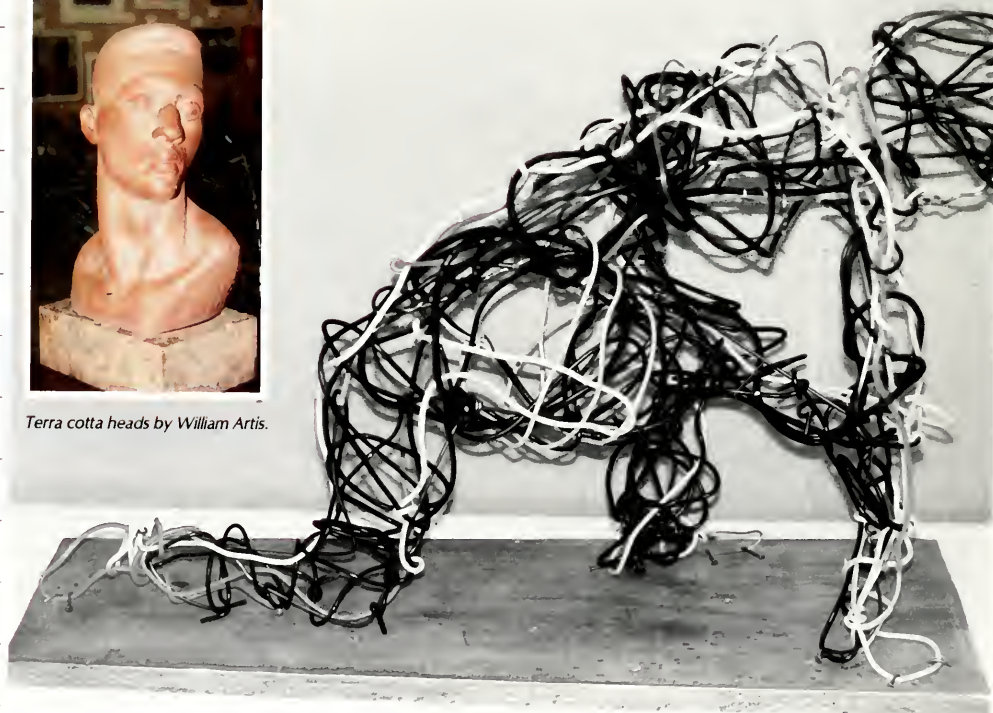

The NCCU Art Museum located across from the Music Building became a haven from the stress of day-to-day college existence. On any given day, delicate wire sculptures and mobiles, strong African busts and masks, or brightly colored tapestry, made the Art Museum the perfect place to pause and reflect. The Museum under the direction of Dr. Norman Pendergraft always featured a variety of exhibitions. Exhibits ranged from computer assisted digital art by Professor Achameleh Debela to paintings by Jim Moon to pin and ink drawings by local high school students. A perfect place for developing a love of art.

Dr. Pendergraft hosting a tour.

Terra cotta heads by William Artis.

Scarification by Achameleh Debela.

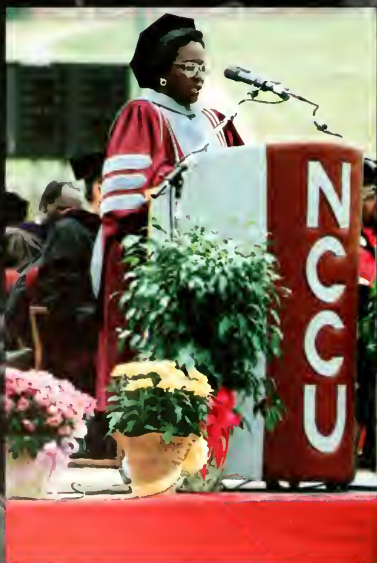

Various pieces from the high school exhibits.

The permanent collection focused on works by emerging and established African-American artists and others who reflected the Black man's experience in America. As part of the University, the NCCU Art Museum collection also included fine art creations from across the world including European, Oceanica, as well as American. The collection included the 19th century paintings by Roberts Duncanson, Henry Tanner and Edward Bannister. Twentieth century sculptures and paintings by William Artis, Ernie Barnes, Richmond Barthe, Selma Burke, Jacqui Watson, and Charles White completed the collection.

The Art Museum's permanent collection and various exhibitions reflected diversity in style, technique, medium, and subject. As a part of a historically black university the Museum added a cultural and historical richness that our lives need and provided a place for moments of solitude.

A native of Charlotte, Dr. Benson earned degrees in history and education from UNC-Greensboro. She graduated magna cum laude and was inducted into Phi Beta Kappa. Dr. Benson holds a master's and doctoral degrees in history from Duke University. Her dissertation was entitled "Before I Be A Slave: A Social Analysis of the Black Struggle for Freedom in North Carolina, 1860-1865." She completed postdoctoral studies at the Georgia Institute of Technology, Princeton University, and Wellesley College.

Dr. Benson demonstrated the intelligence, integrity, and energy required of a chancellor. She was a breath of fresh air to the University.

- REMEMBER THE TIME -

THE FIRST DAYS OF CLASSES

Some Arrived . . .

"You can reach me by railway, you can reach me by trailway . . . get here, if you can." Some arrived by airplane, some with mom and dad, and some drove, but all five thousand students got here. Some arrived on the first day the dorms opened, others waited until the first day of classes and a few waited until after Monday. Most registered by telephone through the "Eagle Line," but a few stood in the traditional line. Whether, you were a biology major or a visual arts major, the first days of classes were a time to get back into your "student life."

People

Hellen Fay Daniel

Chancellor's Award Winner

On Friday, April 3rd, Hellen Fay Daniel was presented the highest honor bestowed on a student at NCCU — The Chancellor's Award. After seven semesters, the senior biology major earned an astounding 3.92 G.P.A.

Not one to concentrate solely on her books, Hellen led an active student life. She was a member of the Marching Band, the Eagle Softball team, and Alpha Kappa Alpha Sorority, Inc. Hellen worked initially as a cashier at Winn Dixie and later as a genetic lab assistant at the National Institute of Environmental Health Sciences as part of the Stay in School Program.

Ms. Daniel, a native of Littleton, NC, was the first person in her family to attend college. Ms. Daniel served as a role model and felt that doing well was very important.

- REMEMBER THE TIME -

THE FIRST SGA DANCE BLOCK PARTY!!

The Women's Gym Parking Lot was cleared. The D.J. and security were in place. Classes started the next day at 8 in the AM. Tonight, we party!

Sponsored by the Student Government Association (SGA) the "Welcome Back Jam" was held on August 20th the night before classes started. The "block party" was the perfect occasion for freshmen to show those new moves and for upperclassmen to make those old moves.

SGA President, Ericka Johnson was in charge and in control. The event was a great success and got the year off on a "bass" beat.

FIRST HOME FOOTBALL GAME

A NEW ATTITUDE

The first home football game always unofficially kicked-off the Fall Semester. The game was at 7 PM on September 14 and was followed by the Omega'a dance in the Women's Gym.

The first home game was against Elon, and they won. But, what the Eagle Fans saw was encouraging. We saw a new attitude. We saw that our new coach, Bishop Harris, had a serious in-your-face attitude about winning. His attitude was reflected in his staff's and team's behavior. We saw discipline. We saw intensity.

We cheered our team and booed Elon. We waited for that moment, that game, when we would win, and win big!

Job Fairs . . .

Roderick Eggleston, a senior history education major, walked into the Annual Teacher's Fair not knowing what to expect. He walked out with a job offer and three more interviews (E. Suggs, Herald-Sun).

Eggleston was just one of the many students from NCCU who was placed through the University's Career Planning and Placement Center. The Career Center sponsored several job and graduate school fairs, conducted weekly resume writing and interviewing workshops, and scheduled daily on-campus interviews with recruiters during the year. Employers from as far away as California recruited at NCCU.

Ira Neal, a recruiter for the Evansville Vanderburgh School Corp in Indiana summarized, "This is where the best minority candidates are."

Crime Prevention Week

As part of its on-going crime awareness program, the University Police Department sponsored Crime Prevention Week. The Week was coordinated by Sergeant Renee Lynch and featured several seminars, a street fair and a self-defense demonstration.

The street fair featured law enforcement officers from around the state, the Crash Dummies, and McGuff. Members of the surrounding community and local elementary schools were invited.

As a result of these efforts, greater visibility, and a relocation of the University Police Headquarters the Campus seemed much safer.

BAPTIST STUDENT UNION

The Baptist Student Union (B.S.U.) focused on the needs of African-American college students who are dedicated to Jesus Christ and the work of His Kingdom. Through bible study, community service projects, and fellowship with others, these needs were addressed.

The 1991-92 B.S.U. had a truly blessed year. The group attended both the State and National B.S.U., retreats, sponsored a local retreat, a "Christain Lock-In" and "Christain Night Club." The group organized five community service projects including serving as volunteers for the Special Olympics.

Surely a blessed year in terms of activities but the most cherished claim was the renewal and fresh commitment to Jesus Christ often acheived during bible study.

— Delta Week '92 —

Delta Week 1992 was a great success! The Week included the "Mr. Delta Contest," a skating party, the ball "An Interlude in Elegance," a Delta Tea/Panel Discussion, a presentation of "For Colored Girls..." seminars on money management and relationships, and a forum entitled "Black Women Making It Against the Odds." All the events were open to and well received by the University community. The Week allowed the University community a glimpse of the depth and diversity that was Delta Sigma Theta.

The revenues raised from the events were donated towards a scholarship for a high school student to attend NCCU.

KAPPA ALPHA PSI

Fraternity

Sometime during the 1930-31 school year Dr. James Shepard had a dream that his university and his fraternity could coexist. On June 1, 1931, he founded the Alpha Kappa chapter of Kappa Alpha Psi.

Sixty years later, the Alpha Kappa chapter continued to serve the University and the community. Each day the brothers escort the children from the University's day care to and from lunch. The brothers assist the day care instructors by reading stories and instructing the children and serving as positive role models. The brothers of Alpha Kappa chapter also assist the R. N. Harris Elementary School Big Brother Program, the North Carolina STAR program, and the Durham Community Homeless Shelter.

Kappa Alpha Psi Fraternity, Inc. was founded in Bloomington, Indiana on January 5, 1911.

Phi Beta Lambda Business Fraternity, Inc. was founded on February 10, 1942 by Hamden L. Forkner in Johnson City, Tennessee. Its purpose is to promote opportunities for college students to gain experience in the business fields. NCCU's Iota Tau Chapter was established on September 15, 1965 and has held true to the organization's purpose. During the year, Iota Tau Chapter sponsored a number of seminars, civic activities, and fund raisers. Its members attended and distinguished themselves at several regional and national conferences. Through these activities NCCU business students gained invaluable exposure to and demonstrated that they were ready to take their rightful place in the business world.

The Iota Tau Chapter of Phi Beta Lambda developed great business students into the great business leaders of tomorrow.

PHI BETA SIGMA

Fraternity, Inc.

"Culture for Service and Service for Humanity" is the motto of Phi Beta Sigma Fraternity, Inc. The fraternity was founded on January 9, 1914 on the campus of Howard University.

The Gamma Gamma Chapter at NCCU lived and slept their fraternity's motto. Sponsoring the second annual "Sleep-Out for the Homeless" Gamma Gamma Chapter, again, demonstrated that it takes a special man to be a Sigma Man.

Phi Beta Sigma Fraternity, Inc. served the campus, Durham, and the world community. We all live under the "Blue."

The Psychology Club was one of the many departmental clubs here at North Carolina Central University. Its main purpose was to assist psychology majors experiencing difficulty in either their major courses or their GCS courses. However, the Psychology Club's mission has expanded to include a number of other activities. Some of these activities included tutoring elementary school children, conducting seminars for psychology majors, and sponsoring food drives for the Thanksgiving and Christmas holidays.

SIGMA GAMMA RHO

Sigma Gamma Rho has arrived! The Blue and Gold of Sigma Gamma Rho could be seen on the yard. But, more importantly, the presence of the Blue and Gold could be felt in the NCCU community. Whether serving as SGA president, or singing in the Choir, the members of Sigma Gamma Rho were very involved and "living large" on the yard.

The Student Government Association served as the political, social and moral conscience of the students. Led by President Ericka Johson, the 1992 version of the Student Government Association was both sophisticated and simple. The goal was to enhance student life on campus.

Working together, SGA made a difference!!

STUDENT AMBASSADORS

The Student Ambassador Program was organized in the fall of 1991 by Leon Rouson, a recruiter for NCCU. According to Rouson, there is a definite need for the program because of the 10,000 plus students who tour the campus every year. Co-Presidents I. Williams, C. Dino II, and other ambassadors informed perspective students about academics and college life.

CAMPUS ECHO

It published and it was good. The Campus Echo provided the University community with a "sounding board." The articles, editors, and comics spoke to the essence of what was occurring on campus. The staff covered the good news and the bad news with equal candidness and professionalism. With thought and care, the Echo gleamed the "wheat from the shaft" and reflected NCCU.

To the 1991-92 Echo staff thanks for the good work!

NCCU CHOIR

The 1991-92 NCCU choir was a piece of artwork waiting to be displayed. The members all seemed to be from various tubes of color, waiting to be applied on canvas, resulting in a glorious display of color, music, and harmony. Dr. Charles Gilchrist expertly painted a mural of performances from B.N. Duke to Manhattan. Each performance was a compliment to the previous, creating a beautiful display of hard work, determination, and tenacity on the part of the artist and his elements of color. From the pallet of the Afro-American experience, the choir consisted of seventy-five hues, singing as one voice.

THE YEARBOOK

Thanks to Those Who Served!

Martin Luther King, Jr. once wrote that we all can lead by serving. However, he warned us about the "drum major" syndrome. The 1991-92 Eagle Yearbook was composed of leaders who led by serving.

Leaders like Faraha Brewer, Denise Woods, Charles Dino, Julie Thomas, Natasha Pitts, and Donna Henry served quietly and completed their sections. Men and women served without fanfare, each taking pride in his or her work, each doing what needed to be done. There were "drum majors" who arrived with a "bang," declaring their leadership and boasting of the great things they would accomplish. Usually, they departed in the quiet of the night with a whimper bemoaning the horrors of the Yearbook, claiming hardships and abuse.

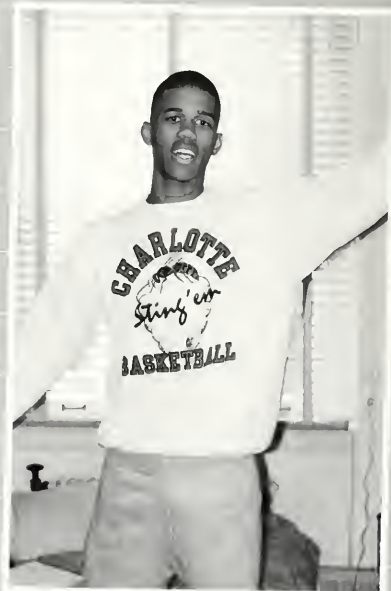

So, thank you leaders, the workers, the ones who cared enough to stay to the end. What a wonderful staff you were.

An Evening of Unforgettable Magic

The coronation of Miss North Carolina Central University truly lived up to its theme. The evening started on the stage of the E. N. Duke Auditorium and concluded in the lounge of A. E. Student Union.

The stage was gorgeously decorated in black and gold. Ms. Brown was crowned the audience in a stupor as light rain with golden sequins. Her beauty shined through the glitter of the sequins and created a magic that sparkled with the brilliance of fireworks. Ms. Brown was crowned Miss NCCU by Chancellor Byronza Richmond. She was escorted by Donald Ray Hicks, Jr.

The University community, friends and family, and visiting queens from other colleges and universities were in attendance. All enjoyed an evening of unforgettable magic.

Choir Ball XII

Even before the show started the crowd was hyper. People laughed when imagining what Choir Ball had in store for them. The Ball began with NCCU's own version of "Moo-townphilly," everyone in the audience knew the Ball would be "live." But, before they could regroup, they were hit with the melodies of a church musical and then powerful rendition of "Jesus Is Real" with a brief sermon by Reverend Bishop.

Then without warning, the crowd was emersed into the "Homegirl Shopping Network," one of the many Eagleland skits. But the primary focus of the Ball was music and there was plenty of it. The various members of the Choir sang their versions of some of the latest Urban and Jazz music. At one point a quartet of young men began singing "It's So Hard to Say Goodbye to Yesterday" and they brought the house down.

The Ball concluded with an inspiring song which encouraged the crowd to be optimistic. As the crowd cleared B.N. Duke Auditorium, their spirits were higher thanks to the members of the NCCU Concert and Touring Choirs.

Spirits Were Higher!

Ericka Johnson, Yes, U down wit' NCC, yeah U know me.

Denise Adams, Tanya Fuller, Fellow Eagles show that they are "optimistic."

L' Automme Mystique

B.N. Duke Auditorium was the scene of a "slammin'" fashion show. The show was sponsored and featured members of the Bon Vivant Fashion Society. Everyone packed the auditorium expecting a glamorous show and they were not disappointed.

"L' Automme Mystique" included African wear, sports wear, evening wear, lingerie, and business attire. The special effects — smoke, leaves, and pumpkins — added a realistic touch to the scene. The women in the audience were treated to such fashion setters as Lee Orr and Dennis Edwards. They were enticed by the antics of Lee Dudley and Rodney Kearney. But, when Phyllis Thompson came on stage in her sassy, green silk two-piece teddy, the men actually tried to climb onto the stage! Phyllis was joined by the other fine sexy female Bon Vivant fashion setters modeling an array of lingerie.

As time ran-out, the audience sounded their approval of the time and effort the members of Bon Vivant had invested in "L' Automme Mystique."

Lee Orr is just too sexy!

HALLOWEEN HAVOC

On October 1st at McDonald Gym, rambled with the sound of thunderous foot steps as the 1991 season of the Barn Hellen stepshow. The show produced some of the most unforgettable stepping the crowd had ever seen.

The ladies of Sigma Gamma Rho proved on the crowd like a monthly arena. They ladies started the crowd's adrenalin pumping. The vogue style of Delta Sigma Theta worked the crowd to a fever pitch. After the Delta's performance, many wondered if anyone could come close to topping what they had just seen. Then the ladies of Alpha Kappa Alpha descended from their ethereal world to answer the challenge and force the competition to a higher level. These ladies captivated the crowd with their serious style of stepping and intricate catwalks. No one to be outdone, the ladies of Zeta Phi Beta stepped hard in a tradition of "blatant." The men of Phi Beta Sigma joined the Zetas for a couple of steps.

absolute zero with their "ice cold" steps. To the surprise of the entire audience, Kappa Kappa Psi put away their band instruments and came out to "step." The crowd was shocked at how hard these gentlemen stepped. The "Sons of Blood and Thunder" reappeared after a year long hiatus from the step floor. Their style ushered in a "demon order" and the crowd had no other choice but to stop, look and listen. When the rumble stopped, there were only two groups left standing. Alpha Phi Alpha Fraternity and Alpha Kappa Alpha Sorority had claimed the crowns as the best in the show.

Tarsha Barnes

Not to be out done, the fraternities mesmerized the crowd with their back-flips, hard stepping, and dancing to the beat of the latest music. Phi Beta Sigma took the stage first and spiced up the show with a bit of a reggae. The four stages of civilization was the theme of the Alpha Phi Alpha routine. They brought the room temperature to

NITE

From the beginning to the end, the show was great. As the lights dimmed everyone got ready.

The screams began and Life En General took their places on center stage. They were slammin'! Life En General left the stage with everyone wanting more. Out came De La Soul. They were a little disappointed about the size of the crowd, but that didn't stop them. They jammed the favorites from their latest album, "De La Soul is Dead." The crowd went wild when they heard "A Rollerskating Jam Called Saturdays" and "Ring, Ring, Ring." De La Soul was definitely not dead at NCCU. The true showstopper was Shirley Murdock. She sang up a storm as her powerful voice filled up McDougald Gym. Her love songs left the crowd in a daze. The crowd sang along and swayed to "In Your Eyes." Shirley Murdock was all that and more ...

As the show was brought to a close, one could honestly say it was time and money well spent.

DOING IT JUST

THE SOUND OF SUCCESS

The Sound Machine takes the field and silence takes the crowd while they await the sounds of success. They play it all from the Motown oldies to the Motown Philly. The crowd then begins to cheer and move around as if they were a part of the band picking up on the emotions of the music. From swaying to thoughts of a Forever love, and saying good-bye to rocking while thinking of making happy and of finding a new love.

Next is what we have all been waiting for . . . the FREAKIEST FREAK OF THE WEEK. All kinds of moves are combined to make each freak as freaky as the last. From the famous little man to those crazy legs the band has it together and in turn they get rewarded with an overwhelming amount of applause. STOP! WAIT! WAIT! How could we forget the N . . . C . . . C . . . NCCU. The field has been rocked once again with another "triple threat production" of the sounds of success! N.D.P.

FACES

Although we are students, we are always teachers. We each teach by example and by deed. Our most serious and scholarly students are the children. We take time from our busy schedules to help out, to read a story, to explain the mystery of shoe laces, to add life to those nursery rhymes, or just to give a hug. Whether it's working in the nursery or serving as tutor, we the students at North Carolina Central University realize that we have a responsibility to nurture, develop, and support the growth of the future generations of Eagles.

TURNING POINTS and NEW BEGINNINGS ...

The Eagle Squadron — a group of talented, skillful and brave men from a select few — made a name for themselves this season. A season that was a turning point for some and a new beginning for others.

The first game of the season was fought against the Aggies of NCA&T. The Aggies dominated the field and left the Eagles mauled with a score of 0-48. Although battered and bruised the Eagles were to endure two more devastating defeats against Elon and Bowie State.

Neither game was worth dwelling on after it was over. But what the Eagle Squadron did not realize was that they were beginning to improve with every game, every practice, every time they stepped foot on a field.

NCCU'S EAGLE'S

The eagle turn around began with the defeat of Kentucky State, which proved to be a confidence booster.

The squadron conquered the rest of its opponents. They posted wins against Fayetteville State, Livingstone (Homecoming), and Johnson C. Smith, which was the basis for their 4-6 overall record, and 3-3 conference record.

The eagles most traumatic loss was against the Rams of Winston-Salem State University. The Rams trampled over the eagles offensive lines, and terminated their plays.

Although their record was not pushed to its potential, our eagle squadron completed the season with their heads held high, and their feathers in tack, knowing that they accomplished more than they had anticipated.

Since taking over last March, LuAnn Edmonds Harris has been getting the squad ready for an intense season in athletics. Try-outs were held in March and many of the requirements were to have good voice projection, spirit, stamina, dedication, and most importantly the ability to get along with others. Two males on the team proved to be a big asset. They attempted many new stunts and voice projection improved. Coach Harris implemented academic as well as conditioning programs. These programs started with a 6 a.m. run, weight-lifting, and a curfew at 11:00 the night before a game. The team did all this work because they had a burning desire to be the best cheerleaders in the CIAA. All that work definitely paid off for Jerney Audrey because he was given the Best Cheerleader in the CIAA award. Maybe this year the entire team will receive an honor like this. Their hard work and dedication to building spirit was not in vain. This group of young men and women put the 'E' back in E-Funk!

EAGLES IN ACTION

Greg Jackson was named Coach of the Year for the CIAA Division. This distinctive honor was quite an accomplishment for the first year coach. Jackson coached the team to a 13-13 season. Jackson stepped in as Head Coach after serving as assistant coach to Micheal Bernard for 6 years.

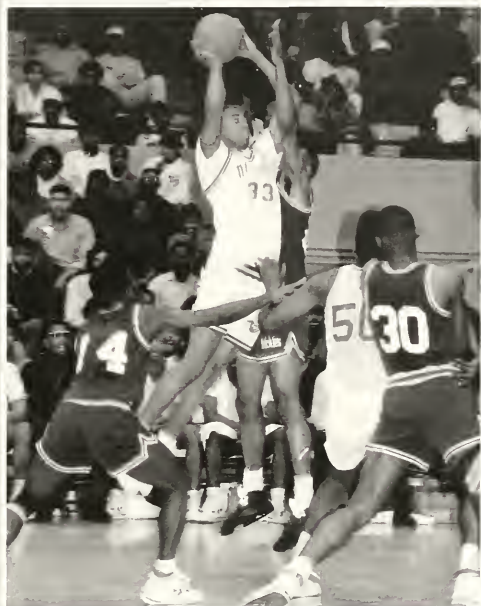

Coach Jackson attributed most of his success to the team itself. He felt that players like Marvin Reed and Taro Knight gave the team a seasoned experience that was invaluable. Rodney Adams, Clifton Daye, and Sean Kearney contributed greatly to the team's explosive offense and smothering defense. Coach Jackson felt that all the players gave a 110% for every game.

Employing a hard-nosed defense and stressing the fundamentals, Coach Jackson laid the foundation for the future of basketball at NCCU. If this year's performance is any indication of the years to come, NCCU has a lot to look forward to!

Coach Greg Jackson and his staff.

They get the job done

NCCU CLINIC, TOO MUCH FOR 'BIG HOUSE,' WINSTON-SALEM ... AGGIES GROUND EAGLES

NCCU ended its men's basketball campaign 13-13. Although posting a 50-50 season, the games were exciting. The Eagles beat their opponents by an average of 13 points and lost to their opponents by an average of only 7 points. The games were always within reach and the Eagles were known to charge back and cut the gap on a bank shot by Nathaniel Lindsey or jam by Clifton Daye with 2:59 left. During January the Eagles put on a clinic during the consolation game of the second annual Smoke on the River Classic. But, proved unable to come back against A&T. Often, the Eagle team which was loaded with talent would lapse into a helter-skelter style of play — not executing their system for the full 40 minutes. Always strong on defense with Jason Beatty serving as chairman of the boards, the Eagles were at times brilliant on offense.

Clarence "Big House" Gaines, the winningest active collegiate basketball coach had the best description of the NCCU Eagle Basketball team. "Man, you guys put on a clinic," Gaines said. "You did everything — great defense, flexing on offense, just everything."

NCCU ended its women's basketball campaign 9-15. The Lady Eagles lost to their opponents by an average of 16 points, whereas their margin of victory was usually by 11 points.

Sebrina Moffett scored the seasons highest points in an astounding victory over The Shaw University Bears. The determined Lady Eagles walked away with a 92-85 "slammin-jammin" victory. Earlier in the season Sharon Manning showed some of that Lady Eagle skill to the same opposing team by coming away with the highest rebounds of the entire season!!!!

Full of super talent NCCU's Lady Eagles show that team work, unity and pride are key ingredients for producing a winning team, although their wins were numbered, the Lady Eagles represented NCCU well.

Keep striving ladies, and give them that Eagle Funk!!!!

HOOPIN' IT UP

ROYALTY ON THE DIAMOND

Women's sports were rarely given the credit they deserved. However, the 1991-92 women's softball team earned respectability on campus and throughout the CIAA. With a record of 14 and 9, the Lady Eagle Softball Team was a force to be reckoned with in the CIAA. The two best players and leaders of the team were Cherly Bogues and Sophia Rolle. These ladies led the team with their hustle and outstanding play.

Gloria Stevenson, Cheryl Bogues, Sophia Rolle, Joy Love, Cassandra Hutchinson, Tyronna McKoy, Kelly Collins, Angela Garner, Swanetta Pitt, Elizabeth Farrow, Katrina Fox, Danielle Garner, Anita Smith, Phyllis Thompson.

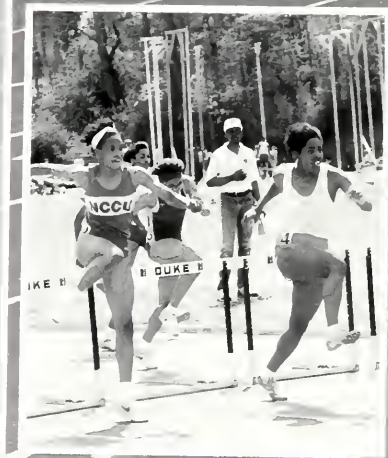

NCCU TRACK SPIRIT

THE SUPER SOPHS!

Carrie Davis and Booker Adams were the stars of the 1991-1992 track season. The duo qualified for the NCAA Division II national championships held in San Angelo, Texas. Adams was the CIAA women's 100-meter hurdles champion with a time of 14.7. Booker placed second in the CIAA 400-intermediated hurdles with a time of 1:01.324. Davis placed second in the CIAA 400-meters with a time of 55.84.

NCCU's 4 X 400 relay team was ranked #11th in the nation and barely missed qualifying for the national championships.

This trio performed well on the track and in the classroom in spite of many away track meets and competing in many events at each meet. These African-American women rejuvenated the long time NCCU track spirit.

SUPER TEAM!

The 1991-92 NCCU Track Team similar to its track has undergone reconstruction. The rebuilding process got an unexpected boost from the five lady Eagles who came to compete. The women members were: Cassandra Adams, Evangela Booker, Carrie Davis, Patrica Henderson, and Rhonda Smith. Just as competitive as their female counterparts, the men members were: DeVaughan Benion, Cedric Bullock, Robert Harris, Ricky Gregg, and Danny Williams.

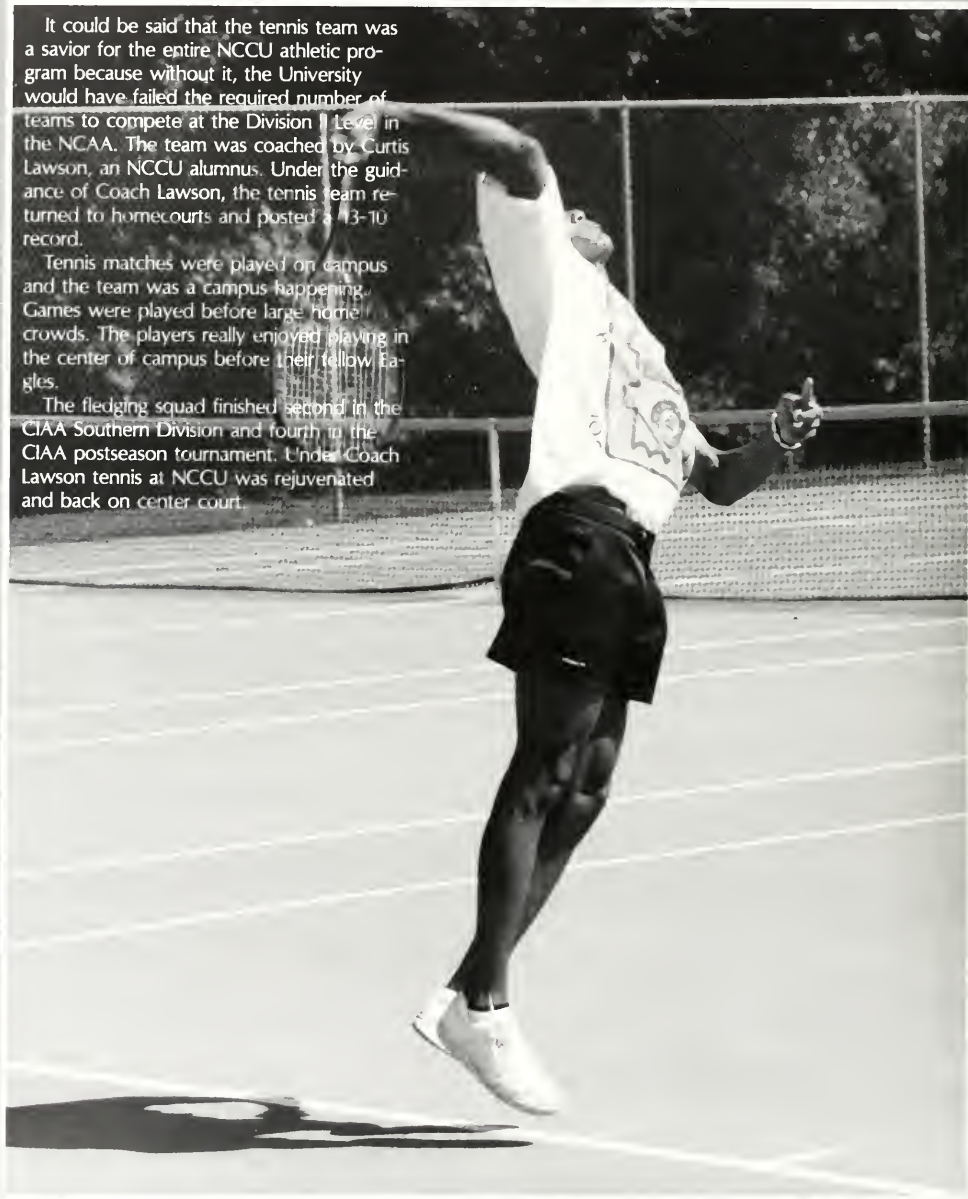

The team was coached by Michael Lawson who hoped for more super sophs, and freshmen in 1992.

BACK ON CENTER COURT

It could be said that the tennis team was a savior for the entire NCCU athletic program because without it, the University would have failed the required number of teams to compete at the Division I level in the NCAA. The team was coached by Curtis Lawson, an NCCU alumnus. Under the guidance of Coach Lawson, the tennis team returned to homecourts and posted a 13-10 record.

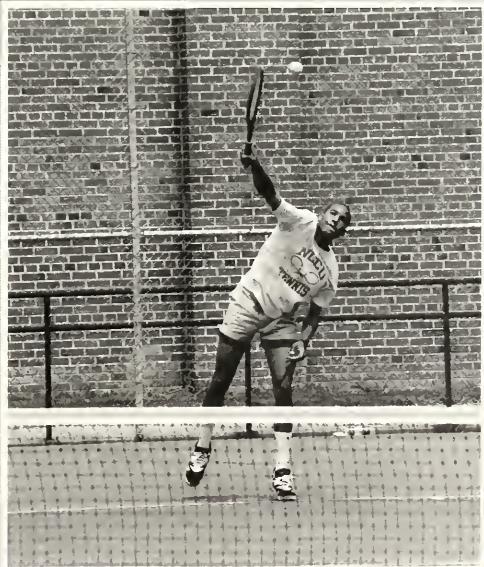

Tennis matches were played on campus and the team was a campus happening. Games were played before large home crowds. The players really enjoyed playing in the center of campus before their fellow Eagles.

The fledgling squad finished second in the CIAA Southern Division and fourth in the CIAA postseason tournament. Under Coach Lawson tennis at NCCU was rejuvenated and back on center court.

Coach Lawson, Cedric Gaithers, Skip Perkins, Malcolm Greene, Kwame Lawson, Asst. Coach Robbins, Marlon Blout, Estella Tita, Tony Mangum, Todd Smith.

CULTURAL EVENTS

"Branford Marsalis is smooth. So smooth that you do not clap your hands during the performance; you snap your fingers. So smooth that he can make a baby's cry blend in with the music." (Campus Echo, 1992)

Tenor saxophonist Branford Marsalis, Jimmy Cliff and the Cleo Parker-Robinson Dance Company performed at NCCU during February as part of the University's Black History Month Celebration. The events were sponsored by the Music and Dance departments in conjunction with the Lyceum Committee.

These performances were just a few of events that broaden the cultural awareness and appreciation at NCCU.

Calendar Girls & Guys

The Annual Calendar Guy and Girl Contest had 49 NCCU Eagles competing. As they strutted across the stage, the audience and judges looked them over from head to toe.

At the conclusion 12 men and 12 women were selected as 1991-92 Calendar Guys and Girls. The Guys were: Willie Wilkes, Vincent Robinson, Jeremy Ardrey, Dwayne Moore, Frankie Mingo, Jim Harper, Shelton McCorkle, Tarrail Howard, Markel Whisonant, Will McCullough, and Chris Turner. The Girls were: Leigh Ann Young, Tueresa Palmer, Rosalind Garmon, Aretha Jackson, Darian Street, Robin Warlaw, Phyllis Thompson, Dawanda Sanders, Tawana Reddick, Polly Bigelow, Michelle Bryant, and Nicole Harris.

They were the bold and the beautiful.
